JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. Personal jurisdiction is proper pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 9-5-33 and 28 U.S.C. § 1332. The Cook Defendants have conducted and continue to conduct substantial and systematic business activities related to their IVC filters, including the Celect™ Vena Cava Filter (hereinafter the “Cook Celect filter”) at issue in this case, in this jurisdiction. Such activities include, but are not limited to: (a) contracting to supply and sale of IVC filters, including the Cook Celect filter at issue in this case, in this jurisdiction; (b) hiring, training, and deploying employees, including managers and sales representatives, in this jurisdiction; (c) advertising and marketing IVC filters, including the Cook Celect filter at issue in this case, in this jurisdiction; (d) maintenance of company files and equipment relating to the Cook Celect filter at issue in this case, in this jurisdiction; (e) payment of employee salaries in this jurisdiction; and, (f) maintenance of a website directed to all states, including Rhode Island. Defendant Cook Medical Incorporated is registered to do business in the State of Rhode Island. The Cook Defendants committed tortious acts within the State of Rhode Island that have resulted in injury. By their acts and/or omissions outside the State of Rhode Island, the Cook Defendants also caused injury to persons or property within the State of Rhode Island at or about the time of the Plaintiff’s injury; while the Cook Defendants were engaged in solicitation or service activities within the State of Rhode Island; and/or while products, materials, or things processed, serviced, or manufactured by the Cook Defendants were used or consumed within Rhode Island in the ordinary course of commerce, trade, or use.

12. Venue is properly laid pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) and (d), as the Cook Defendants' Celect filter was marketed, sold, implanted, and failed in Providence County, Rhode Island, and the Defendants are corporations subject to personal jurisdiction in the district. A substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred in this district, and the Plaintiff suffered and discovered her injuries from the filter while in this district.

13. Plaintiff's claims in this action are brought solely under state law. Plaintiff does not herein bring, assert, or allege, either expressly or impliedly, any causes of action arising under any federal law, statute, regulation, or provision. Thus, there is no federal jurisdiction in this action on the basis of a federal question under 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

ALTERNATIVE ALLEGATIONS

14. To the extent any allegation herein is inconsistent with any other allegation, such inconsistent allegations are pleaded in the alternative pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(d)(3).

GENERAL FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

15. Plaintiff brings this case for serious, life-threatening injuries she suffered, and will continue to suffer, as a result of the Cook Defendants' surgically implanted medical device, the Cook Celect filter, that was implanted by Earle O. Sosseh, M.D., at Roger Williams Medical Center in Providence, Rhode Island on or about January 4, 2013.

16. Cook Defendants design, research, develop, manufacture, test, market, advertise, promote, distribute, and sell products such as IVC filters that are sold to and marketed as both permanent and retrievable devices to prevent, among other things, recurrent pulmonary embolism via placement in the vena cava. One such product is the Cook Celect IVC filter.

17. Cook Defendants sought Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”) clearance to market the Cook Celect filter device and/or its components under Section 510(k) of the Medical Device Amendment.

18. On or about April 20, 2007, the Cook Defendants obtained FDA clearance to market the Cook Celect filter device and/or its components under Section 510(k) of the Medical Device Amendment as a permanent filter.

19. On or about March 7, 2008, the Cook Defendants obtained FDA clearance to market the Cook Celect filter device and/or its components under Section 510(k) of the Medical Device Amendment as a retrievable filter.

20. Section 510(k) allows marketing of medical devices without formal review for the safety or efficacy of any such device, if the manufacturer claims the device is substantially equivalent to other legally marketed predicate devices. The device is then cleared by the FDA under Section 510(k). The Cook Defendants claimed the Cook Celect filter was substantially equivalent to the Gunther Tulip IVC filter.

21. An IVC filter like the Cook Celect filter is a device ostensibly designed to filter blood clots (called “thrombi”) that would otherwise travel from the lower portions of the body to the heart and lungs. IVC filters are marketed as being safely implanted, either temporarily or permanently, within the vena cava.

22. The inferior vena cava or IVC is a vein that returns blood to the heart from the lower portion of the body. In certain people, and for various reasons, thrombi travel from vessels in the legs and pelvis, through the vena cava, and into the lungs. These thrombi can develop in the deep leg veins. The thrombi are called “deep vein thrombosis” or DVT. If the thrombi reach the lungs, they are considered “pulmonary emboli” or PE.

23. An IVC filter, like the Cook Celect filter, is ostensibly designed to prevent thromboembolic events by filtering or preventing blood clots/thrombi from traveling to the heart and/or lungs.

24. The Cook Celect filter has four (4) anchoring struts for fixation and eight (8) independent secondary struts said to improve self-centering and clot trapping.

25. On or about January 4, 2013, Plaintiff was implanted with a Cook Celect IVC filter at Roger Williams Medical Center in Providence, Rhode Island. The Cook filter placed in Plaintiff was stated to be appropriate for use as a permanent filter or a retrievable filter.

26. On February 4, 2020, Plaintiff underwent a computerized tomography scan (“CT scan”) of her abdomen, which demonstrated linear densities in the subsegmental artery of the right middle lobe and right lower lobe are felt to be IVC filter fragments. Right lower extremity DVT. IVC thrombus below the filter.

27. Plaintiff’s injury was inherently undiscoverable or objectively verifiable such that, despite Plaintiff’s reasonable diligence, she was unable to discover her injury until on or after February 4, 2020.

28. Plaintiff faces numerous health risks, including the risks of death. Plaintiff will require ongoing medical care and monitoring for the rest of her life.

29. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Celect filter was widely advertised and promoted by the Cook Defendants as a safe and effective treatment for prevention of recurrent pulmonary embolism via placement in the vena cava.

30. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Defendants knew their retrievable IVC filters were defective and knew that the defect was attributable to the design’s failure to withstand the normal anatomical and physiological loading cycles exerted in vivo.

31. The Cook Defendants failed to disclose to physicians, patients, or Plaintiff that their retrievable IVC filters, including the Celect filter, were subject to breakage and collapse, causing thrombi, perforation through the wall of the inferior vena cava, and/or further inappropriate degree of risk of damage to the vena cava wall and adjacent organs

32. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Defendants continued to promote their retrievable IVC filters, including the Celect filter, as safe and effective, even though the clinical trials that had been performed were not adequate to support long-term or short-term efficacy.

33. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Defendants continued to promote their retrievable IVC filters, including the Celect filter, as safe and effective, for permanent implantation even though the clinical trials that had been performed were not adequate to support long-term or short-term efficacy.

34. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Defendants continued to promote their retrievable IVC filters, including the Celect filter, as: a) having “enhanced retrievability”; b) providing the “gold standard in PE prevention”; c) providing “fracture resistance in dynamic vena cava”; d) self-center for efficient clot trapping e) offering atraumatic caval attachment; and, f) a reduced risk of thrombosis, even though the clinical trials that had been performed were not adequate to support long-term or short-term efficacy and Cook was aware that their retrievable IVC filters including the Celect filter had a high rate of failure including tilt, perforation, migration, fracture and thrombosis.

35. The Cook Defendants concealed the known risks and failed to warn of known or scientifically knowable dangers and risks associated with its IVC filters, including the Celect filter, as aforesaid.

36. At all times relevant hereto, the Cook Defendants failed to provide sufficient warnings and instructions that would have put Plaintiff and the general public on notice of the dangers and adverse effects caused by implantation of the Cook Celect filter, including, but not limited to, the design's failure to withstand the normal anatomical and physiological loading cycles exerted in vivo.

37. The Cook Celect filter was designed, manufactured, distributed, sold, and/or supplied by the Cook Defendants, and was marketed while defective due to the inadequate warnings, instructions, labeling, and/or inadequate testing in light of the Cook Defendants' knowledge of the product's failure and serious adverse events.

38. At all times relevant hereto, employees, representatives, agents, officers and/or directors of the Cook Defendants named herein participated in, authorized, and/or directed the production and promotion of the aforementioned products when they knew or should have known of the hazardous and dangerous propensities of said products, and thereby actively participated in the tortious conduct that resulted in the injuries suffered by Plaintiff.

DISCOVERY RULE AND FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT

39. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 15 through 38, 43, of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein and additionally, or in the alternative, if same may be necessary, alleges as follows.

40. Plaintiff pleads that the discovery rule should be applied to toll the running of the statute of limitations until Plaintiff knew, or through the exercise of reasonable care and diligence should have known, of facts indicating that Plaintiff had been injured, the cause of the injury, and the tortuous nature of the wrongdoing that caused the injury.

41. Despite diligent investigation by Plaintiff into the cause of her injuries, including consultations with Plaintiff's medical providers, the nature of Plaintiff's injuries and damages and their relationship to the Cook Celect filter and the Cook Defendants' wrongful conduct was not discovered, and through reasonable care and due diligence could not have been discovered, until a date within the applicable statute of limitations for filing Plaintiff's claims. Therefore, under appropriate application of the discovery rule, Plaintiff's suit was filed well within the applicable statutory limitations period.

42. Any applicable statutes of limitation have been tolled by the knowing and active concealment and denial of material facts known by the Cook Defendants when they had a duty to disclose those facts. The Cook Defendants' purposeful and fraudulent acts of concealment have kept Plaintiff ignorant of vital information essential to the pursuit of her claims, without any fault or lack of diligence on Plaintiff's part, for the purpose of obtaining delay on Plaintiff's part in filing on her causes of action. The Cook Defendants' fraudulent concealment did result in such delay.

43. Through their catalogs, sales materials and Patient Guides, Cook made the following express representations regarding the Celect filter to the medical community, implanting physicians, and patients:

- a. "LEAVE IT OR RETRIEVE IT: The Celect functions well as both a permanent vena cava filter and a retrievable device."
- b. "... these filters can also remain in place as permanent devices."
- c. "The Günther Tulip and Celect vena cava filters can stay in place permanently or they can be removed"

44. In its marketing materials, Cook represents the filter implanted in the Plaintiff is safe to remain permanently in the body when it is not, all while concealing the issues known to Cook as to the complications with their filter when placed as a permanent filter. Given the express representations made by Cook, and the concealment of the material facts described herein, implanting physicians and patients would not be expected to understand the significance of such events as tilt, embedment, perforation, or an inability to retrieve the filter as indications that the filter is defective or the source of an injury, and so Cook conceals the fact the patient has legal recourse against the Cook defendants.

45. Based on information and belief, the Plaintiff's implanting physician was aware of the representations included in Cook's marketing materials that the filter implanted in the Plaintiff was safe to remain permanently in her body, and Dr. Earle O. Sosseh relied upon those representations when choosing to implant the Celect filter in the Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh.

46. Based upon information and belief, had the above misrepresentations not been made and the material information referenced herein not been concealed from Dr. Earle O. Sosseh and had the risks with the Celect filter been properly disclosed, Dr. Earle O. Sosseh would not have implanted a Celect filter in Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh or would not have let it remain implanted. If Dr. Earle O. Sosseh would have disclosed the above risks to Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh, which could only happen if the risks were properly disclosed to Dr. Earle O. Sosseh, Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh would have refused to have a Celect filter implanted in her or insisted on its early removal. As a result, Cook's acts, or omissions, including the above referenced misrepresentations and fraudulent concealment, caused, including proximately caused, Plaintiff's injuries.

47. Cook's acts or omissions, including the fraudulent concealment, which were intended to conceal Plaintiff's injuries from the Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh, prevent inquiry by the Plaintiff, elude investigation by the Plaintiff and/or mislead the Plaintiff as to whether she had valid claims or causes of action against the Defendants. As a result, the Plaintiff Cheyene Sosseh could not have discovered her causes of action despite exercising reasonable care and diligence and she was prevented from discovering she had legal claims against Cook.

48. The Cook Defendants are estopped from relying on the statute of limitations defense because the Cook Defendants failed to timely disclose, among other things, facts evidencing the defective and unreasonably dangerous nature of the Cook Select Filter.

49. The Cook Defendants were and remain under a continuing duty to disclose the true character, quality and nature of the device that was implanted in Plaintiff, but instead they concealed them. The Cook Defendants' conduct, as described in this complaint, amounts to conduct purposely committed, which it must have realized was dangerous, heedless, and reckless, without regard to the consequences or the rights and safety of Plaintiff.

CORPORATE/VICARIOUS LIABILITY

50. At all times herein mentioned, the Cook Defendants were agents, servants, partners, aiders and abettors, co-conspirators, and/or joint venturers, and were at all times operating and acting within the purpose and scope of said agency, service, employment, partnership, conspiracy, and/or joint venture and rendered substantial assistance and encouragement to each other, knowing that their collective conduct constituted a breach of duty owed to the Plaintiff.

51. There exists and, at all times herein mentioned, there existed a unity of interest in ownership between the Cook Defendants such that any individuality and separateness between them have ceased and these Cook Defendants are alter egos. Adherence to the fiction of the separate existence of these Cook Defendants as entities distinct from each other will permit an abuse of the corporate privilege and would sanction a fraud and/or would promote injustice.

52. At all times herein mentioned, the Cook Defendants, and each of them, were engaged in the business of, or were successors in interest to, entities engaged in the business of researching, designing, formulating, compounding, testing, manufacturing, producing, processing, assembling, inspecting, distributing, marketing, labeling, promoting, packaging, prescribing, advertising for sale, and/or selling products for use by the Plaintiff. As such, each Defendant is individually, as well as jointly and severally, liable to the Plaintiff for Plaintiff's damages.

53. At all times herein mentioned, the officers and/or directors of the Cook Defendants participated in, authorized and/or directed the production, marketing, promotion, and sale of the aforementioned products when they knew, or with the exercise of reasonable care and diligence should have known, of the hazards and dangerous propensities of said products, and thereby actively participated in the tortious conduct that resulted in the injuries suffered by the Plaintiff.

COUNT I NEGLIGENCE

54. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, 43 through 46, 95 and 99 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

55. At all times relevant to this cause of action, the Cook Defendants were in the business of designing, developing, setting specifications, manufacturing, marketing, selling, and distributing the Cook Celect filter.

56. The Cook Defendants designed, manufactured, marketed, inspected, labeled, promoted, distributed, and sold the Cook Celect filter that was implanted into Plaintiff.

57. The Cook Defendants had a duty to exercise reasonable and prudent care in the development, testing, design, manufacture, inspection, marketing, labeling, promotion, distribution, and sale of the Cook Celect filter so as to avoid exposing others to foreseeable and unreasonable risks of harm.

58. The Cook Defendants knew or should have known that the Cook Celect filter was dangerous or was likely to be dangerous when used in its intended or reasonably foreseeable manner.

59. At the time of manufacture and sale of the Cook Celect filter (2007 until Present), the Cook Defendants knew or should have known that:

- a. The Celect filter was designed and manufactured in such a manner so as to present an unreasonable risk of fracture of portions of the device;
- b. The Celect filter was designed and manufactured so as to present an unreasonable risk of migration of the device and/or portions of the device;
- c. The Celect filter was designed and manufactured so as to present an unreasonable risk of the device tilting and/or perforating the vena cava wall;
- d. The Celect filter was designed and manufactured to have unreasonable and insufficient strength or structural integrity to withstand normal placement within the human body; and/or,
- e. There were no clinical trials which adequately established the efficacy of filter in preventing pulmonary embolisms.

60. At the time of manufacture and sale of the Cook Celect filter (2007 until Present), the Cook Defendants knew or should have known that using the Celect filter in its intended use or in a reasonably foreseeable manner created a significant risk of a patient suffering severe health side effects, including, but not limited to, hemorrhage, cardiac/pericardial tamponade, thrombus, cardiac arrhythmia and other symptoms similar to myocardial infarction, perforations of tissue, vessels, and organs, as well as risks of other severe personal injuries and diseases that are permanent in nature, including, but not limited to, death, physical pain and mental anguish, scarring and disfigurement, diminished enjoyment of life, physical impairment, loss of earning capacity, continued medical care and treatment due to chronic injuries/illness proximately caused by the device and the continued risk of requiring additional medical and surgical procedures, including general anesthesia, with the attendant risk of life-threatening complications.

61. The Cook Defendants knew or should have known that consumers of the Cook Celect filter would not realize the danger associated with using the device in its intended use and/or in a reasonably foreseeable manner.

62. The Cook Defendants breached their duty to exercise reasonable and prudent care in the development, testing, design, manufacture, inspection, marketing, labeling, promotion, distribution, and sale of the Cook Celect filter in, among others, the following ways:

- a. Designing and distributing a product which the Cook Defendants knew or should have known that the likelihood and severity of potential harm from the product exceeded the burden of taking safety measures to reduce or avoid harm;
- b. Designing and distributing a product in which they knew or should have known that the likelihood and severity of potential harm from the product exceeded the likelihood of potential harm from other devices available for the same purpose;
- c. Failing to use reasonable care in manufacturing the product and producing a product that differed from their design or specifications or from other typical units from the same production line;
- d. Failing to use reasonable care to warn or instruct, including pre-sale and post-sale, Plaintiff, Plaintiff's physicians, Plaintiff's agents or the general health care community about the Cook Celect filter's substantially dangerous condition or about facts making the product likely to be dangerous;
- e. Failing to perform reasonable pre-market and post-market testing of the Cook Celect filter to determine whether or not the product was safe for its intended use;
- f. Failing to provide adequate instructions, guidelines, and safety precautions, including pre-sale and post-sale, to those persons to whom it was reasonably foreseeable would prescribe, use, and implant the Cook Celect filter;
- g. Advertising, marketing, and recommending the use of the Cook Celect filter while concealing and failing to disclose or warn of the dangers known by Cook Defendants to be connected with and inherent in the use of the Celect filter;
- h. Representing that the Celect filter was safe for its intended use when in fact, the Cook Defendants knew and should have known the product was not safe for its intended purpose;
- i. Continuing to manufacture and sell the Cook Celect filter with the knowledge that the product was dangerous and not reasonably safe;

- j. Failing to use reasonable and prudent care in the design, research, manufacture, and development of the Cook Celect filter so as to avoid the risk of serious harm associated with the use of the Celect filter;
- k. Advertising, marketing, promoting, and selling the Cook Celect filter for uses other than as approved and indicated in the product's label;
- l. Failing to establish an adequate quality assurance program used in the manufacturing of the Cook Celect filter; and,
- m. Failing to establish and maintain an adequate post-market surveillance program.

63. A reasonable manufacturer, distributor, or seller under the same or similar circumstances would not have engaged in the aforementioned acts and omissions.

64. As a direct and proximate result of the foregoing negligent acts and omissions by the Cook Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, impairment, disfigurement, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of earning capacity, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

COUNT II

STRICT PRODUCTS LIABILITY – FAILURE TO WARN

65. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, 43 through 46, 95 and 99 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

66. The Cook Defendants designed, set specifications, manufactured, prepared, compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, distributed, and sold the Cook Celect filter, including the one implanted into Plaintiff, into the stream of commerce and in the course of same, directly advertised and marketed the device to consumers or persons responsible for consumers.

67. At the time the Cook Defendants designed, manufactured, prepared, compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, distributed, and sold the device into the stream of commerce, the Cook Defendants knew or should have known the device presented an unreasonable danger to users of the product when put to its intended and reasonably anticipated use.

68. Specifically, the Cook Defendants knew or should have known at the time they manufactured, labeled, distributed, and sold the Cook filter that was implanted into Plaintiff, that the Cook Celect filter, was not safe for permanent placement in the human body and inter alia, posed a significant and higher risk than other similar devices of device failure (fracture, migration, tilting, and perforation of the vena cava wall) and resulting in serious injuries.

69. Consequently, the Cook Defendants had a duty to warn of the risk of harm associated with the use of the device and to provide adequate instructions on the safe and proper use of the device.

70. The Cook Defendants further had a duty to warn of dangers and proper safety instructions they became aware of even after the device was distributed and implanted into Plaintiff.

71. Despite their duties, the Cook Defendants failed to adequately warn of material facts regarding the safety and efficacy of the Cook Celect filter and further failed to adequately provide instructions on the safe and proper use of the device. These failures rendered the Celect filter unreasonably dangerous to Plaintiff.

72. No health care provider or patient, including Plaintiff and her health care providers, would have used the Cook Celect filter in the manner directed, had those facts been made known to the prescribing healthcare providers and/or ultimate users of the device.

73. The health risks associated with the device as described herein are of such a nature that ordinary consumers would not have readily recognized the potential harm.

74. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's health care providers used the Cook Celect filter in a normal, customary, intended, and foreseeable manner -- namely as a surgically implanted device used to prevent pulmonary embolisms.

75. Therefore, the Cook Celect filter implanted into Plaintiff was defective and unreasonably dangerous at the time of release into the stream of commerce due to inadequate warnings, labeling, and/or instructions accompanying the product.

76. The Cook Celect filter implanted into Plaintiff was in the same condition as when it was manufactured, inspected, marketed, labeled, promoted, distributed, and sold by the Cook Defendants.

77. As a direct and proximate result of the Cook Defendants' lack of sufficient warning and/or instructions, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, impairment, disfigurement, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of earning capacity, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

COUNT III
STRICT PRODUCTS LIABILITY – DESIGN DEFECT

78. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, 43 through 46, 95 and 99 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

79. At all times relevant to this action, the Cook Defendants developed, tested, designed, manufactured, inspected, labeled, promoted, distributed, and sold into the stream of commerce the Cook Celect filter, including the one implanted in Plaintiff.

80. The Cook Celect filter was expected to, and did, reach its intended consumers without substantial change in the condition in which it was in when it left the Cook Defendants' possession. In the alternative, any changes that were made to Cook Celect filter implanted in Plaintiff were reasonably foreseeable to the Cook Defendants.

81. The Cook Select filter implanted into Plaintiff was defective in design in that it failed to perform as safely as persons who ordinarily use the product would have expected at the time of use and its risks of harm exceeded its claimed benefits.

82. The Cook Defendants knew that safer alternative designs were available that would have prevented or significantly reduced the risk of the injury presented by the Select filter. Further, it was economically and technologically feasible at the time the Cook Select filter left the control of the Cook Defendants to prevent or reduce the risk of such a dangerous event by application of existing, or reasonably achievable, scientific knowledge.

83. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's health care providers used the Cook Select filter in a manner that was reasonably foreseeable to the Cook Defendants.

84. Neither Plaintiff nor Plaintiff's health care providers could have, by the exercise of reasonable care, discovered the Cook Select filter's defective condition or perceived its unreasonable dangers prior to Plaintiff's implantation with the device.

85. The defective design of the Cook Select filter was a producing cause of Plaintiff's injuries.

86. As a result of the Cook Select filter's defective design, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, loss of enjoyment of life, impairment, disfigurement, loss of earning capacity, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

COUNT IV
STRICT PRODUCTS LIABILITY – MANUFACTURING DEFECT

87. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, 43 through 46, 95 and 99 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

88. The Cook Defendants designed, set specifications, manufactured, prepared, compounded, assembled, processed, marketed, labeled, distributed, and sold the Cook Celect filter that was implanted into Plaintiff.

89. The Cook Celect filter implanted into Plaintiff contained a condition or conditions, which the Cook Defendants did not intend, at the time it left the Cook Defendants' control and possession.

90. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's health care providers used the Celect filter in a manner that was reasonably foreseeable to Cook Defendants.

91. As a result of this condition or these conditions, the Cook Celect filter injured Plaintiff and failed to perform as safely as the ordinary consumer would expect when used in a reasonably foreseeable manner.

92. As a direct and proximate result of the Cook Celect filter's manufacturing defects, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, impairment, disfigurement, loss of earning capacity, loss of enjoyment of life, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

COUNT V
BREACH OF IMPLIED WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY

93. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, and 43 through 46 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

94. At all times relevant to this action, the Cook Defendants designed, researched, developed, manufactured, tested, labeled, inspected, advertised, promoted, marketed, sold, and distributed into the stream of commerce the Cook Celect filter, including the one implanted in Plaintiff, for use as a surgically implanted device used to prevent pulmonary embolisms and for uses other than as approved and indicated in the product's instructions, warnings, and labels.

95. At the time and place of sale, distribution, and supply of the Cook Celect filter to Plaintiff by way of Plaintiff's health care providers and medical facilities, the Cook Defendants expressly represented and warranted, by labeling materials submitted with the product, that the Cook filter was safe and effective for its intended and reasonably foreseeable use. In addition, the Cook Defendants expressly warranted that:

- a. the Cook Celect is a safe and effective treatment for prevention of recurrent pulmonary embolism via placement in the vena cava;
- b. the Celect filter is safe and effective for permanent implantation even though the clinical trials that had been performed were not adequate to support long-term or short-term efficacy;
- c. the Celect filter has "enhanced retrievability;
- d. the Celect filter provides "fracture resistance in a dynamic vena cava";
- e. the Celect filter is self-centering for efficient clot trapping;
- f. the Celect filter offers an atraumatic caval attachment; and,
- g. the Celect filter presents a reduced risk of thrombosis.

96. The Cook Defendants knew of the intended and reasonably foreseeable use of the Cook Celect filter at the time they marketed, sold, and distributed the product for use by Plaintiff, and impliedly warranted the product to be of merchantable quality and safe and fit for its intended use.

97. Through their catalogs, sales materials and Patient Guides, Cook made the following express representations regarding the Celect filter to the medical community, implanting physicians, and patients:

- a. "LEAVE IT OR RETRIEVE IT: The Celect functions well as both a permanent vena cava filter and a retrievable device."

- b. "... these filters can also remain in place as permanent devices."
- c. "The Günther Tulip and Celect vena cava filters can stay in place permanently or they can be removed"

98. The Cook Defendants impliedly represented and warranted to the healthcare community, Plaintiff, and Plaintiff's health care providers, that the Cook Celect filter was safe, of merchantable quality, and fit for the ordinary purpose for which the product was intended and marketed to be used.

99. The representations and implied warranties made by the Cook Defendants were false, misleading, and inaccurate because the Celect filter was defective, unsafe, unreasonably dangerous, and not of merchantable quality, when used in its intended and/or reasonably foreseeable manner. Specifically, at the time of Plaintiff's purchase of the Cook Celect filter from the Cook Defendants, through Plaintiff's physicians and medical facilities, it was not in a merchantable condition in that:

- a. It was designed in such a manner so as to be prone to an unreasonably high rate of failure, including fracture, migration, excessive tilting, causing thrombosis and/or perforation of bodily organs;
- b. It was designed in such a manner so as to result in an unreasonably high rate of injury to the organs and anatomy; and,
- c. It was manufactured in such a manner so that the Cook Celect filter was inadequately, improperly, and inappropriately prepared and/or finished, so as to be prone to an unreasonably high rate of failure and/or causing the device to fail.

100. Plaintiff and Plaintiff's health care providers reasonably relied on the superior skill and judgment of the Cook Defendants as the designers, researchers, and manufacturers of the product, as to whether the Celect filter was of merchantable quality, safe and fit for its intended use and also relied on the implied warranty of merchantability and fitness for the particular use and purpose for which the Cook Celect filter was manufactured and sold.

101. The Cook Defendants placed the Celect filter into the stream of commerce in a defective, unsafe, and unreasonably dangerous condition, and the product was expected to and did reach Plaintiff without substantial change in the condition in which the Cook Celect filter was manufactured and sold.

102. The Cook Defendants breached their implied warranty because the Celect filter was not fit for its intended use and purpose.

103. As a direct and proximate result of the Cook Defendants breaching their implied warranties, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, impairment, disfigurement, loss of enjoyment of life, loss of earning capacity, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

COUNT VI
NEGLIGENT MISREPRESENTATION

104. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in paragraphs 15 through 38, 43 through 46, 95 and 99 of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

105. At all times relevant to this cause, and as detailed above, the Cook Defendants negligently provided Plaintiff, Plaintiff's health care providers, and the general medical community with false or incorrect information, or omitted or failed to disclose material information concerning the Cook Celect filter, including, but not limited to, misrepresentations relating to the following subject areas:

- a. safety of the Cook Celect filter;
- b. efficacy of the Cook Celect filter;
- c. rate of failure of the Cook Celect filter;
- d. safety of the Celect filter for use as a permanent filter; and,

- e. approved uses of the Cook Celect filter.

106. The information distributed by the Cook Defendants to the public, the medical community and Plaintiff's health care providers was in the form of reports, press releases, advertising campaigns, labeling materials, print advertisements, commercial media containing material representations, which were false and misleading, and contained omissions and concealment of the truth about the dangers of the use of the Cook Celect filter. These materials included instructions for use and a warning document that was contained within the package of the Celect filter that was implanted into Plaintiff. The Cook Defendants' affirmative misrepresentations regarding the Celect filter, include:

- a. the Cook Celect is a safe and effective treatment for prevention of recurrent pulmonary embolism via placement in the vena cava;
- b. the Celect filter is safe and effective for permanent implantation even though the clinical trials that had been performed were not adequate to support long-term or short-term efficacy;
- c. the Celect filter has "enhanced retrievability";
- d. the Celect filter provides "fracture resistance in a dynamic vena cava";
- e. the Celect filter is self-centering for efficient clot trapping;
- f. the Celect filter offers an atraumatic caval attachment; and,
- g. the Celect filter presents a reduced risk of thrombosis.

107. Through their catalogs, sales materials and Patient Guides, Cook made the following express representations regarding the Celect filter to the medical community, implanting physicians, and patients:

- a. "LEAVE IT OR RETRIEVE IT: The Celect functions well as both a permanent vena cava filter and a retrievable device."
- b. "... these filters can also remain in place as permanent devices."

- c. “The Günther Tulip and Celect vena cava filters can stay in place permanently or they can be removed”

108. The Cook Defendants’ intent and purpose in making these representations was to deceive and defraud the public and the medical community, including Plaintiff’s health care providers and Plaintiff’s agents; to gain the confidence of the public and the medical community, including Plaintiff’s health care providers and Plaintiff’s agents; to falsely assure them of the quality of the Cook Celect filter and its fitness for use; and to induce the public and the medical community, including Plaintiff’s healthcare providers to request, recommend, prescribe, implant, purchase, and continue to use the Cook Celect filter.

109. The foregoing representations and omissions by the Cook Defendants were in fact false. The Cook Celect filter is not safe, fit, and effective for human use in its intended and reasonably foreseeable manner. The use of the Cook Celect filter is hazardous to the user’s health, and said device has a serious propensity to cause users to suffer serious injuries, including without limitation, the injuries Plaintiff suffered. Further, the device has a significantly higher rate of failure and injury than do other comparable devices.

110. In reliance upon the false and negligent misrepresentations and omissions made by the Cook Defendants, Plaintiff, Plaintiff’s agents, and Plaintiff’s health care providers were induced to, and did use the Cook Celect filter, thereby causing Plaintiff to sustain severe and permanent personal injuries.

111. The Cook Defendants knew and had reason to know that Plaintiff, Plaintiff’s health care providers, Plaintiff’s agents, and the general medical community did not have the ability to determine the true facts intentionally and/or negligently concealed and misrepresented by the Cook Defendants, and would not have prescribed and implanted same if the true facts regarding the device had not been concealed and misrepresented by the Cook Defendants.

112. The Cook Defendants had sole access to material facts concerning the defective nature of the product and its propensity to cause serious and dangerous side effects in the form of dangerous injuries and damages to persons who are implanted with the Cook Celect filter.

113. At the time the Cook Defendants failed to disclose and misrepresented the foregoing facts, and at the time Plaintiff was implanted with the Cook Celect filter, Plaintiff, Plaintiff's health care providers, and the Plaintiff's agents were unaware of the Cook Defendants' negligent misrepresentations and omissions.

114. Plaintiff's health care providers, Plaintiff's agents, and the general medical community reasonably relied upon the foregoing misrepresentations and omissions made by the Cook Defendants where the concealed and misrepresented facts were critical to understanding the true dangers inherent in the use of the Cook Celect filter.

115. Plaintiff's health care providers' and Plaintiff's agents' reliance on the foregoing misrepresentations and omissions by the Cook Defendants was the direct and proximate cause of Plaintiff's injuries as described herein. As a result of the Cook Defendants' misrepresentations and omissions, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, loss of enjoyment of life, impairment, disfigurement, loss of earning capacity, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

PUNITIVE DAMAGES CLAIM

116. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the foregoing paragraphs of this Complaint as though fully set forth herein.

117. Plaintiff is entitled to an award of punitive and exemplary damages based upon the Cook Defendants' intentional, willful, knowing, fraudulent, malicious acts, omissions, and conduct, and their complete and total disregard for the public safety and welfare.

118. The Cook Defendants had knowledge of, and were in possession of evidence demonstrating that, the Cook Celect filter was defective, unreasonably dangerous, and had a substantially higher failure rate than did other similar devices on the market. Despite their knowledge, the Cook Defendants failed to, among other purposeful acts, inform or warn Plaintiff, Plaintiff's agents, or her health care providers of the dangers, establish and maintain an adequate quality and post-market surveillance system, and recall the Cook Celect filter from the market.

119. As a direct, proximate, and legal result of the Cook Defendants' acts and omissions as described herein, Plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer serious physical injuries, pain and suffering, mental anguish, medical expenses, loss of enjoyment of life, disability, and other losses, in an amount to be determined at trial.

- b. Plaintiff be awarded full, fair, and complete recovery for all claims and causes of action relevant to this action;
